

Raquel Mateo González

Director of Spanish Programs at ESIC Business & Marketing School

I have a degree in German from the University of Seville and I also studied at the Karl-Franzens University in Austria and the Technical University of Dresden in Germany. Following my degree I lived in Germany for eight years, working at Munster University as a Spanish teacher, where I also completed my studies in Spanish language and literature.

I gained a doctorate in German Literature and a Masters in Translation of Texts with Specific Aims in German and Spanish, specializing in legal language, from the University of Seville. I also have a Masters in Marketing and Business Management from ESIC Business and Marketing School.

Since 2008, I have managed ESIC's Department of Spanish as a Foreign Language on a national level. What I like most about my work is its international dimension, in that it allows me to come into contact with students from different nationalities and cultures.
